AN ancient miracle turned water into wine.
A modern miracle turns water into gold.
When the late J. P. Morgan bought out Carnegie's iron works, bonds were issued plentifully, also millions of preferred stock, and $500,000,000 of common stock.

Carnegie said the stock was "pure air" and the bonds were water.
Now United States Steel calls in $150,000,000 worth of the "water" bonds, and pays the holder $115 for each $100 bond.

Senator Cossens of Michigan gives $10,000,000 for the benefit of children, their health and education. All the money must be spent in 25 years.

Noble impulses, most generous action. The sum represents a third of Senator Cossens' fortune.

The question is, how can you, on a big scale, help children, on whom the national welfare depends?

Teach the parents? That is not easy.
Increase the fathers' incomes? That helps children directly.
Arouse ambition in children? Progress comes from within.
Improve the public schools? The last is most important.

Practical America remembers that Mr. Cossens' thirty odd millions came, in cash, from a few hundreds invested in Henry Ford's company when it started.

The problem is to find another Henry Ford just starting.

Owners of homes in Moscow with incomes above $1500 a year will be evicted. Working people will have their homes.

That seems atrocious. It is time the pendulum swinging back and forth.

Not many years ago thousands of small farmers in Britain were driven from homes and lands to create deer forests, waste spaces, where king and nobles might hunt the deer.

Nobody made a fuss about the deer forests. And when the cars were sending thousands to die in Siberian mines, or to die in the gulags under the tsar, as Lenin's brother died, this Government was not evicted.

It took the more spectacular death of one Roosevelt family to interest us. This Soviet refusal to make good the car's bonds, bought by our foolish financiers.

Sir Herbert Austin killed himself in London, fearful cause. Nothing worse than death could come from cancer, but fear is worse than death.

One man killed himself, fearing an impending death. Another man killed his brain rather than walk across a chasm on a narrow plank.

Thousands refuse to consult a doctor lest they be told they have cancer, as though not knowing it could help.

"Soon discovered, soon cured," is the truth concerning cancer and consumption. Taken in time, danger is slight.

Fred Allen, a 35-year-old negro, of Richmond, Mo., is accused of robbing six banks and striking a mob.

A mob took him from prison, beat him almost to death, then returned him to the sheriff.

That's not exactly your idea of perfect civilization. But, privately, members of the mob believed that their plan "worked."

After the beating, the negro sent for the public prosecutor, said he wanted to plead guilty, and be removed from Richmond, as soon as possible.

That an ignorant negro should commit a crime has no historical interest. But that a white mob should find satisfaction in beating a man that could not defend himself is enlightening.

Harvard Is Named in Fight on Power Trust

HAGEN ASKS 'OBEY LAWS OR FALL OR REPEAT' INQUIRY

Declaring that the power interests have been trying to poison the wells of education and appeared to have "invaded" the sacred portals of Harvard, Representative James E. Hagen of Somerville today demanded that the House and Senate of Massachusetts launch a sweeping investigation of Power Trust activities.

Speaking before the rules committee of both branches of the Legislature in support of the order introduced by him, calling for the probe, Hagen was one of many who urged such action on the members of the committee, who have the power to admit or reject the investigation measure.

"We have a situation right out here in Harvard College, where the Harvard School of Business Administration, which has enormous influence upon the other branches of the university, is being used as a tool to introduce into the minds of our youth the idea of the power trust," Hagen declared.

Lindy Club Backed by Mayors
All over New England today the boys and girls are whooping it up for the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club.

"Get with it, and get busy," was the quick advice given by thousands of boys and girls to their friends who have not joined the club.

"Green idea, best in the world," was the comment of the young folks, and the club has been a success since it was organized.

Meanwhile, the mayors of many New England cities have unofficially endorsed the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club, in which more than 15,000 children are now enrolled as members.

"The students in the course on the utilities are being filled with prejudicial and public and municipal ownership, and they are being taught a theory of regulation that runs counter to the established system of regulation in this State.

"I want to know and I believe the people of this State will want to know, in the relation between the Harvard Business School and the power interests."

Hagan also asserted that the operations of the big power companies were a challenge to the people of Massachusetts that the purchase of public utility securities were among those needing protection, and that, as regards propaganda in the schools, he said:

"The Power Trust has taken to the streets and made its own (of the motto) 'Just as the twig is bent, the tree is inclined.'"

"If we don't act in time, the people of this great industrial region will be working to produce dividends on the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of securities owned by the power trust with the expectation of making them good by establishing a complete monopoly and destroying our system of regulation."

"Every home, every farm, every factory, every electric street car, is being exploited for the benefit of a band of financial big game hunters."

"It is a situation that presents a challenge to the people of this Commonwealth, and it is posed to us by a democracy. Our government in control of the situation."

"When informed, enlightened public opinion. We have got to decide whether the people are going to be ruled by their own hands, whether the people or the power interests are to control our government."

"From what has been happening in other parts of the country, it is revealed in the Federal Trade Commission investigations, the gobbling up of newspapers by power groups, there is the danger of a similar situation in this State, and we have seen, it has already begun."

"The power interests are in the hands of the power trust, then, you cannot have a democracy that is worth anything."

In this way it would have a complete monopoly of electric power, from the source to the ultimate consumer, and would dictate the price all the way, without competition."

"We find that while the press and public are agitated of this matter, another local plant, the Fall River Electric Company, has been purchased by the trust. I give the power to protect the public and to give them relief."

"There is no question of widespread public protest and no issue of more vital importance than the public of light and power and its control."

"What makes such an investigation necessary at this time? For years the light and power trust has been operating behind a power combination. Because of the participation of the Clarke interests, such was the interpretation

"We had the power trust bought up two newspapers, namely the Boston Herald and the Boston Traveler. Is the acquisition of these papers an attempt to influence public opinion on the question of public utility regulation?"

"We were fully warned by Chairman Atwell of the Public Utilities Commission some three years ago when the control and operation of a number of New England electric companies had passed into the hands of outside capitalists."

"Now THE FEE SYSTEM. 'All the evils of absentee landlordism are liable to obtain here,' Chairman Atwell. 'Hunger exists and the hydro-electric power of New England may be exported at the expense of the industrial and agricultural development of the Commonwealth.'"

"The creation of superpower systems is also bound to involve the making of a monopoly of the interlocking companies for the interchange of electricity."

"Now a new evil confronts us, the fee system. To quote the Federal Trade Commission, 'The company for the controlling services organization provides the service agencies and charge fees for its services to the operating companies of the group.'"

"Its banking organization acquires the assets and controls the marketing of the company's securities and collects a fee; its purchasing organization controls the purchase of supplies and equipment."

9 Stitches That Weren't Saved Cost Him $40

In Marblehead, where he resides, Henry F. Killam (and what's in a name?) heard about the general alarm fire in Lynn. Killam hid himself in the rooming house. He pushed through the fire lines. "Where are you going?" demanded Patrolman William Gillespie. "What do you care?" responded Killam, swinging a right that landed on the officer's left orb. "This much," returned Gillespie, pulling his club. The patrol first deposited Killam at Lynn Hospital where nine stitches were taken in his head. "Fined $40 for assault on an officer," Killam paid and went forth. But of course, by that time the fire was out.

Senate Blocks Lenroot Vote

Washington, April 22 (AP)—Immediate confirmation of the nomination of Irvine T. Lenroot, of Wisconsin, to be a judge of the court of customs and appeals, which was recommended to the Senate today by President Hoover, was blocked at an executive session a short time after it had been received. After a short discussion in executive session the Senate referred Lenroot's nomination to its judiciary committee for consideration.

PILGRIMS PLAY DECK GAMES IN MID-SEA

By ELIAS McQUAID
Boston Evening American Correspondent
On Board the S. S. President Wilson, April 22 (by radio)—With the blue waters of the Gulf Stream at hand, and the chill of the North Atlantic yielding to summer warmth, the 250 members of Cardinal O'Connell's Rome-bound party were entertained today by deck games, including tennis.

Many of the Boston tourists participated in the athletic events. Others joined the ranks of spectators. The log of the President's War Department was still chilly half-way to the Azores, her first port of call.

The Sabbath was observed quietly aboard ship. Numerous masses were celebrated, the cardinal officiating at the 9:30 ceremony, assisted by Mrs. Spillane and Mrs. McGillicuddy. Miss Lea Clerici sang Gounod's Ave Maria.

Connecticut Loses Water Shed Ruling
Washington, April 22 (NS)—The Supreme Court today denied the petition of the State of Connecticut to have the certificate of water and chief of engineers defendants in the Connecticut river watershed diversion case, Connecticut asked this to be done because, it alleged, the War Department was about to decide that proposed diversion of water power from the Swift and Waver navigators, by Massachusetts would have no adverse effect upon navigation.

"Dip" Throws $1000 Stolen Stocks Away
Stock certificates valued at $10,000 stolen Saturday by women pickpockets from Mrs. Josephine Dip, who was shopping in Temple st., were found today on the floor of a downtown store. ## 3 QUIGLEY TOYS SAVED BY WIFE OF MAYOR

Cool-headed in an emergency that threatened the lives of three of her children, Mrs. Lawrence F. Quigley, wife of the Chelsea mayor, carried two of them to safety through a smoke-filled house and rushed to rescue the third, saving a large bar on the child's finger. Mrs. Quigley said today.

Created by a burst of flame from a fire in the cellar when she opened a door in the kitchen, Mrs. Quigley seized her three-year-old twins, Andrew and Rita, and carried them to the street.

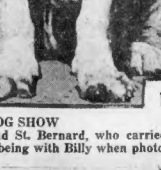

Not content with having saved the children, she returned to the house, which quickly filled with dense black smoke, and led another son, Lawrence, Jr., five, to safety. # 12 WOMEN TO RULE ON BUTLER'S DISCIPLINE

JURY HEADS 'JURY' IN CASE

Chicago, April 22 (AP)—An unofficial jury of 12 prominent women headed by Miss Jane Addams was called by Municipal Judge Erickson to determine a woman's responsibility toward her daughter, particularly as regards "jazz and gin" parties among young people. The jury will be unofficial because women are not permitted to sit as jurors in Illinois, but Judge Erickson has indicated he may make "official" whatever verdict the women reach.

The case is that of Mrs. Jane Lister, mother of 15-year-old Coletta Lister, a member of the party which ended in the death of George Lutz, 23, last week, when his automobile overturned. Mrs. Lister is technically charged with violation of the compulsory education law. Should it be shown that Mrs. Lister did exercise proper parental restraint over the girl's conduct, it would be the "jury" might suggest that a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor be made. "If they so advise, I shall most certainly have the more serious charge presented," Judge Erickson said.

Wife Wins Divorce for His Cruelty to Baby
Mrs. Mildred L. Schnair of West Arton was granted a divorce nisi from Richard A. Schnair by Judge John C. Leggat in Middlesex Probate Court today on charges of cruelty to her and her baby, Richard, Jr.

Mrs. Schnair testified that on one occasion she heard Richard Junior crying in the next room. Upon investigation, she found a large burn on the child's finger. She claims her husband told her he placed the child's finger against a hot oil stove to teach him to keep away from stoves. On another occasion, Mrs. Schnair claimed, she arrived home from shopping to find her husband had given the baby some hard candy, causing the child to act queerly.

Youngsters Flock to Join Lindy Club

Believe that the immediate object of presenting a new wedding gift to Charles A. Lindbergh, most famous aviator, and his bride-to-be, Miss Anna Spencer Morrow, daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, United States Ambassador to Mexico, is a wish they believe that nearly all the children in New England will respond to this appeal.

Among the Massachusetts mayors who have endorsed the club are Ralph S. Bauer of Lynn, Thomas J. McGrath of Quincy and Michael A. Landers of Lawrence.

Here is what Mayor Bauer of Lynn has to say:

"I am very happy, indeed, to endorse both the principle and the purpose of the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club. A testimonial such as is contemplated for Col. Lindbergh, aided by thousands of school children, is really an inspiration."

LAUDS CLUB'S AIMS

Mayor McGrath of Quincy said: "I am sure that the purposes of the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club will be realized and that through the efforts of the children, Col. Lindbergh and his bride will be remembered with a silver replica of the Spirit of St. Louis."

"I hope that the children who respond to the appeal, not only to give their penny contribution for the wedding gift, but also to show their interest in aviation by entering the essay competition."

Mayor Landers of Lawrence said: "I most heartily endorse the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club. The young folk will be pleased to contribute their penny toward the wedding present to the colonel. I know this appeal will excite the interest of many children, and also Miss Morrow, will appreciate this token of love and affection."

Although it was announced that the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club would be composed of boys and girls of New England, several children from outside the New England States have sent in membership coupons, including two from Chicago, one from Georgia, one from Battle Creek, Mich.; two from New Jersey, one from New York. This seems to be clear-cut proof of the interest which the club has evoked.

Among the children outside of New England, who have sent in membership applications are the following:

AUTOIST IS HELD AFTER TWO CRASHES

John Conkley of West of Newton Highlands, was arrested today after an automobile, of which he was the alleged driver, sideswiped a parked car in Tremont st. Roxbury, crashed into a second half-mile away and failed to stop at command of Pullman Clinkett.

Petrolman Ferrigan, Division 2, was seated in the parked car. The second vehicle, with which police allege Conkley's auto collided was driven by Lester Doberty, Massachusetts Ave., North Cambridge.

The arrest followed a check of registration numbers noted by Clinkett and Ferrigan. In Roxbury court Conkley pleaded not guilty to charges of driving to endanger and refusing to stop for an officer and two counts of going away after an accident. He was held in $700 for hearing Monday.

JUNIOR LEAGUERS TREAD BOARDS

Snow White and Seven Dwarfs to Be Given in Aid of the Elizabeth Peabody House Each Afternoon From Tomorrow Through Saturday

REHEARSALS TELL ANTHING THE JUNIOR LEAGUE PLAYERS will cover themselves with glory from the rising curtain on "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" tomorrow afternoon to the final one on Saturday. For into this production has gone much enthusiasm and conscientious labor, that both audience and the children of the Elizabeth Peabody House may enjoy the fruits thereof.

SNOW WHITE HERSELF, IN THE CHARMING PERSON OF Miss Peggy Bent, will turn Time back toward sunny days as Prince Florimond, played by Miss Mary Eustis, pleads his cause on the fairyland stage of the Elizabeth Peabody playhouse. Besides a daily matinee these generous young people are giving an additional performance on Saturday morning just for the settlement children.

THE BOX OFFICE RECEIPTS FOR THIS PLAY BID FAIR TO fill the coffers of the House to overflowing, since this is a favorite charity of almost the entire social register, to say nothing of the established reputation of the Junior League players for historic perfection. Thus is a combination of able performers and worthy charity rewarded.

AGAIN SOCIETY MATRONS RALLY TO THE CAUSE OF ILL AND wounded war veterans as government hospitals hereabouts by devoting a large amount of their time to the advancement of the annual "Rose Day." This year the drive for funds for the Soldiers and Sailors Club will be held on May 11, with the endorsement of President Hoover as chairman of the honorary committee, and of high civic and military leaders, including Governor Allen, Admiral Andrews, Major-General Preston Brown, ex-Governor Alva T. Fuller and others.

MRS. WALTER M. PRATT IS CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE in charge, assisted by Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mrs. Henry Parkman, Mrs. Malcolm W. Greenough, Mrs. George R. Fearing, Mrs. Henry H. Sprague, Miss Margaret Slade and several more. A wider canvas than has ever before been undertaken is being planned, with features of more compelling interest.

MRS. A. LAWRENCE LOWELL AND MISS ADA L. COMSTOCK, president of Radcliffe College, are among the patronesses assigned for the gala performance of "Diurnal" tonight and tomorrow night at Assa's Theater, Cambridge. The combined Menorah Societies of Harvard and Radcliffe are presenting the play. The names of Dean Berne V. Brown and of Assistant Dean Ruth A. Merrill, appear on the list as well.

EAGER EYES ARE ALREADY WAITING TO SCAN THE LIST OF 1929-30 bids now being compiled by Miss Mary O. Porter, chairman of the calendar of benevolent functions. Before May 15 the names of all girls who are to be introduced to society during the coming season will be duly registered for distribution on printed lists among the debutantes. And from the responses thus far, society knows that next season is to be a lively one, since 15 bid-lets have announced their intentions.

THE ROSKS THAT BLOOM IN THE CHEEKS OF FAIR BIDS ARE to be protected next year through an agreement made this week-end between 160 mothers and social leaders that next season's debutante dances will begin at 10 o'clock and not later than 9 a. m. This is the direct result of a campaign waged by the Junior League and the Parents League in New York as a protest against the increasing lateness of social functions. Under this agreement, dances are to begin at 8, dances at 10 and suppers at 12. Dances are to end between 3 and 3 o'clock.

WITH THE FLITTING OF WINTER GOES ALSO MRS. BAYARD TUCKERMAN, erstwhile occupant of Mrs. Henry Whipple's apartment on Beacon st., to greet the springtime with her daughter, Mrs. William M. Kilian, at Elkins Park, Pa. She plans to spend a time with her other daughter, Mrs. C. Herman Kimball, in the Hill, N. J., before returning to open her summer home at Ipswich about May 1.

WITH THE APPROACH OF MAY DAYS BAGS ARE BEING packed at the Thomas Pelham Curtis manse in Haverford, Pa., for that all important journey to New York for the marriage of their son, Herbert Pelham Curtis, to Miss Helen Kingsbury Curtis in the Madison Ave. Presbyterian Church on May 2. Announcement of the bridal party includes the names of Miss Cornelia Curtis, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; and of Thomas Curtis, brother of the groom, as best man. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Kingsbury Curtis of East 42nd st., New York.

EWING AIDS CAMPAIGN FOR TEMPERANCE

New York, April 22 (UNB)—Ring-necked support to William Randolph Hearst's campaign for light wines and beer was given by Col. Robert Ewing, Jr., vice-president of the Associated Press and publisher of the New Orleans (L. A.) States. Col. Ewing is here to attend the annual convention of the American Publishers' Association which opens today.

Col. Ewing said: "I Congress took the advice of William Randolph Hearst when adopting the Volstead act, we would have light wines and beer. Before its enactment, Mr. Hearst advocated temperance favoring the abolition of the saloon and liquor. No less a person than President Hoover, Food director during the World War, declared it would be a crime to let light wines and beer after he heard prohibitionists were preparing to halt the sale of liquor. "Conditions today are deplorable with boys and girls carrying hip-pocket flasks and with peering eyes under the microscope of the nation of our youth. The situation is terrible throughout the country, even though some ministers and prohibitionists seem unable to see the facts as they are. The Volstead act is absurd."

Call Meeting to Plan May Party

A special meeting of the County Rocommon Benevolent Association has been called for Sunday evening in Hibernian Building, Roxbury, to complete plans for the organization's annual May party in Hibernian Building Thursday evening, May 9.

President John J. Dolan made the committee. Assisting are Helen Myers, Frances Glendon, Margaret Cunningham, Helen Dolan, Catherine Curley, Elizabeth Bohan, Catherine Roche, Helen McDonald, Mrs. Lawrence Hanson, James J. Egan, James J. Byrne, Michael Grogan, Thomas J. Carroll and Joseph P. Glendon. Installation of members elected to the membership drive now in progress, will also take place at the meeting.

Armagh Associates

Rat Origins Clause

Resolutions of protest against the national origins clause of the federal immigration act were adopted at the meeting of the County Armagh Association in the Hibernian Building, Roxbury. Copies have been sent to President Hoover and to Massachusetts members of Congress.

President Joseph P. Mohan discussed the clause recently established in Belfast and said it would be even later. A committee appointed to arrange for a party Wednesday evening, May 25, includes Katherine Ryan, Charles J. Garry, Mary Curley, Margaret McNamee, Ruth McParland, Mary McNamee, Margaret McNamara, Annie O'Brien, Helen Kelly, Joseph A. McNamee and George Kelly.

Club's Aim to Help Wayward Children

PROPARVULUS—"For Little Ones"—that's the baton of idealism which has moved 650 unselfish and enterprising young women of the city to band together under club banner, and through whose efforts an annual contribution of $10,000 is made for the care of delinquent boys and girls in Boston.

Summer time means vacation, and thanks to the club and to its president, Miss Anna V. Doyle, 70 victims of environment, youthful offenders of convention's regulations, are given recreation periods at Sunset Point, near Nantasket. Each week boys and girls, under the Big Sister supervision of the Proparvulus Club, alternate.

Miss Frances Willis is vice-president and chairman of publicity. The club had its inception seven years ago when a mere suggestion by the Rev. George P. O'Connor, spiritual adviser of the organization, so impressed a group of young women that immediate action was given to its formation and today it is one of the most successful clubs of its kind.

In the crowded tenement districts, where rays of sunshine sometimes forget to penetrate, the Proparvulus girls are seen daily earnestly making contacts with the children of the neighborhood, bringing cheer and comfort to the little waifs which forgotten children often know too well.

Ex-Mayor James M. Curley was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Boston Section, Council of Jewish Juniors, held in the vestry of Temple Israel last night. "The Gray House" was presented by the Council Drama Group. Raymond Miranda, a past president of the organization, was host.

Those who head a long list of officers are: Marie Porcoster, vice-president; Calmar Devine, recording secretary; Elizabeth Donohue, corresponding secretary; Helen Brennan, treasurer; Agnes McArthur, assistant treasurer.

ALL SHOULD HAVE PLENTY OF MILK

Bones and Teeth of Children and Adults Need Milk in the Diet

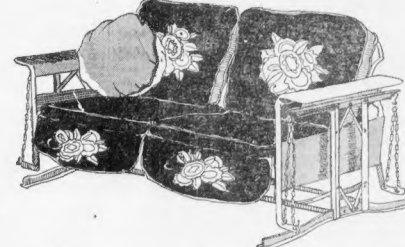

Two famous nutrition authorities emphasize the need of human body for the calcium and phosphorus found in milk. Children and expectant or nursing mothers should have from three-quarters to one quart of milk a day, according to these authorities, and other adults should have from three-quarters of a pint to a pint of milk a day. These authorities point out that too little calcium in the diet retards bone growth, causes rickets, may result in bone deformities, produces poor quality of teeth and lowers vigor and vitality. What milk also is rich in phosphorus.

Unfortunately there are many people who do not like the taste of milk. For such people, a delicious milk drink should be made. One mother makes her children eager for milk by giving it to them in milk shakes. "They call one drink a chocolate fruit," she says. "I take a level teaspoon of cocoa and 1½ teaspoons of sugar, mix in the bottom of a glass with a few drops of milk until it's smooth, add a drop or two of vanilla flavoring, fill the glass with milk and shake it with an ordinary tin shaker. The youngsters are crazy about it." She goes on to say, "They like it sometimes without the chocolate, just the vanilla and sugar."

Sugar is Nature's ideal flavor. "Help make children drink milk," says an eminent food scientist, "by adding chocolate and sugar." The Sugar Institute.

OUTDOOR DAYS AGAIN have you indoor feet?

The glorious warmth of Spring and early Summer reaches out to you and says, "Go out and do things—play tennis, golf, take your walks, get in shape again." How unfortunate to have painful, tired feet that are unwilling to move... that want to stay home and be nursed!

And how unnecessary! Smart women everywhere have learned, to their joy, that complete comfort in attractive, chic shoes is truly possible. They come to Coward by hundreds, by thousands, because they know that here they can get shoes that end foot troubles of all sorts for all time. And that that is so adorably lovely, so frivolously feminine to see that no one would suspect them of their "sensible" feel.

PARACHUTE FORCED DOWN THREE TIMES

Dayton, O., April 22 (AP)—Forced down three times on a hazardous flight from Washington, which became a narrow escape from injury or death in an airplane, David S. Hinkle, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aviation, had experienced only a few hours behind him to date before the aeronautical session of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs today.

It wasn't his fault that he completed the journey and that at the time was the conclusion that a fellow operator faced similarly, although not at such risk. Congressman Edith Norton Rogers of Massachusetts likewise was forced to abandon a flight here by turbulence which proved too much for her pilot, and she, too, came by rail.

Hinkle, former war pilot, came down first in rain and fog at Frederick, Md. Up again, he doggedly continued, but an hour later he was forced down again in Somerset, near Uniontown, Pa. He took off a third time, only to make a forced landing at Soston's Lake, Pa., and wrecked the plane.

RECEIVER BIG MILLS

Judge Cox in equity motion session of Superior Court today appointed Thomas B. Basset receiver of the Granite Mills, Fall River. Judge Cox directed Basset not to sell the mills below market price, saying: "I do not think (investor) should be allowed to dump goods on the market and speculate on the market."

Basset said the Granite Mills were worth about $200,000. Judge Cox was informed that the value of the mills was about $750,000, and the plan to sell them would be sold from $500,000 to $700,000.

Gaelic Dances Will Feature May Party

Preliminary preparations for the annual May party of the County Dublin Association were made at the meeting of the organization in the Irish Hall, Dunster St., Boston, today. The affair will be held in John Hoyle O'Reilly Hall, Riverdale Building, Roxbury, on Tuesday evening, April 30.

There will be music and modern dancing with music furnished by Irish Academics. President Francis Coleman, head of the committee, announced that the affair will be a success. Among those who contributed are Helen McKenna, Patrick Mahoney, Sidney Pickens, Mrs. Harry Kelly and Miss Ethel Easton.

Weather Bans Better Homes Exercises

The program of exercise which was scheduled for this noon at the Parkman Bandstand in the Boston House Bureau was postponed until tomorrow due to the weather. A program will be presented every day this week at 12:30. Tomorrow Felix Burton, president of the Small House Service Bureau, will deliver an address on "Better Homes." ## New Acid Discovery May Be Tuberculosis Cure

Washington, April 22 (AP)—Discovery of a "fatty" acid which may have far-reaching effect in science's search for a tuberculosis cure was reported today to the National Academy of Science.

The acid, a chemical substance which is almost solid at certain temperatures, induces the growth of tubercles when injected into small animals. It may be the root of tuberculosis and a study of its activity in human cells and its activity may provide a new angle of attack against the disease.

The finding is the result of research in Rockefeller Institute by Dr. Florence R. Babin, only woman member of the academy. Dr. C. A. Donah and Dr. C. F. Fortner. It was described as one of the most significant results of the extensive study of the disease undertaken by the National Tuberculosis Association.

The work centers around the discovery that a means of curing the disease may be found by studying the chemistry of the bacillus which acts as a parasite of one of the cells of the body. The newly found acid has the power of causing rapid multiplication of one strain of blood and tissue cells in the body to the exclusion of all the other cells of which the body is made up.

If it is found to be the only substance that will cause tubercle to grow, further research will be carried on to combat its effect to bring solution to the cure of the dread disease.

Thrilling 6-Day Novel by Noted Author

PETER BLAIR, in his ball, bedroom, unwrapped the litter of packages on his bed and began, slowly, to clothe his tall young form in a gray whipcord uniform.

A chauffeur!

This was the boy who, three months before, had come to New York to storm the mighty city, to make his name, fame and fortune.

Shattered dreams! Those dignified, well paid jobs—they simply didn't exist. Anyway, not for a 22-year-old lad from Kentucky with no New York connections and less than $200 in his pocket when he arrived. He was broke, now, absolutely.

The telephone downstairs was ringing. His new employer, or wanted her closed car at her apartment.

"And come on upstairs your self, Blair," she told him. "I want to see how you look in your uniform."

The car, when Peter Blair drove it out of the garage, was a polished mechanism of eight-cylinder luxury.

He stopped in front of a tall apartment on Riverside Drive. A colored maid admitted him. Miss Dillon appeared in a pink silk negligee wrap, a tall, girlish woman of perhaps 30, with gorgeous auburn hair and large brown eyes.

Miss Dillon looked at him with a steady, absorbing gaze.

"Not so bad, Peter," Miss Dillon said. "In fact you look like a million dollars, big boy. And speaking of money, here's $40 for your first week in advance—just in case you happen to be a little short."

"Kid—it's a shame you're only a chauffeur," she went on. "In came a pudgy, little man, with a prominent nose and a bald head."

"Hello, sweetie," Miss Dillon said indifferently.

Sweetly gave her a suspicious glance.

"Who's that?" he demanded.

"That's my new chauffeur, sweetheart," Miss Dillon responded. "How do you like him?"

"Not so good," said the caller. "I thought you was going to get a married man—a middle-aged Swede, or something."

"Be yourself, Mr. Hoffman," Madelon Dillon remarked casually. "What right have you to interfere in my domestic life? Don't you think you're pretty fresh?"

Mr. Hoffman's eyes widened, and his fleshy nose seemed to quiver just a trifle with sudden anger.

"I'm fresh, am I! All right. I'm going to be a little bit fresher still. Young man, he turned to Peter Blair, 'you're fired. Out! I don't want you for this job. How much do I owe you for the time you've used up already?"

"Just a minute!" Miss Dillon's voice was low and husky, yet it cut through the room with a vibrant authority. "I picked this boy, Mr. Hoffman, and he stays on this job as long as he wants to and as long as I want him. You can't talk to him that way, and you can't pull any rough stuff in my apartment. Now if you don't like it, you can take the air. Get me, Sam? The air—the ozone! It's all on the outside waiting for you."

"Do I deserve this kind of treatment?" Sam Hoffman gestured with plump hand in Peter's direction. "Is it nice you should hire a lady-killer on me, to drive you around?"

A wave of heat began to tingle up and down Peter's spine. A lady-killer! His head grew hot with anger, but in his breast was a sinking sensation of shame.

"Look here, Mr. Hoffman," said Peter, "you didn't hire me—Miss Dillon did. And if she wants to fire me that's her business. But you or nobody else can call me a lady-killer."

"Listen here, Mussolini," Madelon said sarcastically. "I'm sick and tired of your dictating to me. You're not married to me yet, you know."

"But I buy the car. I can buy the car. I can buy the car."

Sam Hoffman comprehended the furnishings of the apartment with an expansive wave of his hand.

"All of which doesn't give you the right to regulate my entire life, Mr. Hoffman. You're through, Mr. Hoffman."

"Madelon!" Sam Hoffman went on close to the girl that Peter Blair feared he was going to embrace her. "Madelon—don't talk that way. If I got fresh about the young feller it was because I was excited. You know how I am, Madelon. I didn't mean anything."

"It's not only the way you act about the chauffeur. It's the way you act about everything here lately," the girl retorted. "As small a matter as that little diamond bracelet I wanted—"

"Sh... sh... baby," Hoffman's face became benevolent. "You shall have it."

"And I wanted to go down to Atlantic City for a week, but you said no—you said—"

"That's what I came up to tell you about, Madelon. It's all right. We're going. I've already got the railroad tickets."

"When do we go, Sam?"

"At four o'clock this afternoon."

Gradually Madelon Dillon's face, her eyes, her voice, had become softer, kinder.

ARREST DIVORCED COUPLE REINION

RICH MILLER OWNER IS DIVORCED

Providence, R. I., April 22—Testimony by Mrs. Annie S. Boyden, young society matron of this city, describing alleged drunken spree of her husband, George E. Boyden, son of a wealthy millowner, was heard in the case of Fred Fitzgerald, son of former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston.

The couple married four years ago, and have been living apart since August of last year. The wife received $80 weekly alimony pending hearing of the divorce petition.

In her testimony Mrs. Boyden declared that her husband had been sober only two weeks in the 12 months preceding their separation and had spent much of his time in Rhode Island roadhouses.

She declared that after the birth of their baby, Barbara, her husband had become abusive and neglected her life by careless handling of funds he used on hunting trips.

Claude, Stimson Exchange Facts

Washington, April 22 (AP)—Ambassador Claude Stimson today with the American government's instrument of ratification of the Kellogg anti-war treaty and exchanged with Secretary Stimson ratifications of the arbitration treaty. The treaty ratifications were lacking only the deposit of Japan's ratification to make it effective.

The cases of two others, Francis J. O'Donnell and Leonard Reilly, former secretary to Mayor Fitzgerald, were continued until Wednesday on request of counsel who wished time to study the affidavits.

Fred Fitzgerald was tried last Monday and Tuesday and was found not guilty of drunkenness.

The Curious Quizzer

Every day he asks a question and pictures those questioned.

THE QUESTION

Do you agree with a resolution by the Daughters of the American Revolution that teachers be required to take an oath of allegiance in guard against teaching of Communism?

ALLAN D. PULSIFER, 333 Chestnut ave., Jamaica Plain—Any teacher must be a citizen of the country, of course. Personally, I never had my attention drawn to teachers who taught Communistic doctrine in the school room. I am glad to back up the resolution presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution, for it is possible that sometime or another some teacher of radical and communistic ideas may try to spread them in our schools.

MISS JULIA DOWNING, 117 L st., South Boston—The teaching of Communism in our schools should be strictly guarded against. To have against such teaching, appointments should be made so that only the best type of patriot would be represented in the teacher selected. Before being allowed to teach every applicant for the position, I believe, should be required to swear against teaching Communism.

MISS HELEN DOOLEY, 163 P st., South Boston—Of course one would not think such a requirement was necessary. But as almost anything is possible in the teaching line at present, one can never tell what ideas may be in the minds of certain educated people.

JOHN A. COLLINS, 114 Martin st., Cambridge—Children are turned over to their teachers to be made into good, loyal and law-abiding citizens. Under an oath of allegiance against teaching Communism, as resolved by the Daughters of the American Revolution, only those whom we had confidence that nothing detrimental to better in our great principles would be attempted by disloyal teachings.

Worcester Woman Dying After Fall

Worcester, April 22—Mrs. Mary Rock, 55, of 21 Endicott st., suffered injuries which will probably prove fatal when she slipped off from a third story window of her home. City hospital authorities believe she suffered a fractured spine as well as other injuries.

$15,000 IS THEY SEEK BAIL FOR TO RE-WED CAR THEFT IN COURT

Robert Humphrey, 22, of Regent st., Cambridge, was held in $15,000 bail in Somerville district court today on appeal from a jail term of two years and two months imposed on complaints charging him with dangerous driving and driving under the influence of liquor.

His appearance before Judge Sturtevant was the aftermath of a wild ride by Humphrey and two companions 10 days ago through Somerville, Malden and Medford with Officer George B. Phillips of Somerville in pursuit.

Phillips recovered the car, alleged to have been stolen, and arrested Humphrey in a vacant lot in Medford.

They surprised the court by explaining they were husband and wife until about six months ago, when a divorce was granted in probate court at Dedham, and they asked to be married then and there.

Preparations were made but City Clerk Emory Crane said he could not issue a license until probate court records were produced to show whether or not the full six months had elapsed to make the decree of divorce absolute. The case was put over until tomorrow.

A car made a "boom" when it drove for West End about 10 and soon thereafter in the West End area. That's the way it ran.

The Country Club at Bras Burn, Southern on Wollaston Links.

By BILL GRIMES

In the third round of the team match championship of the Women's Golf Association of Boston which was postponed until tomorrow on account of the storm, the undefeated Midland district will meet Central, the defending champions at the Weston Golf Club. The Country Club will be the hosts of Bras Burn and Northern and Southern will clash at Wollaston.

The well balanced Midland District is the only team in the association which has not suffered a defeat. Midland opened the season with a victory over the Country Club at Wollaston and then defeated Northern and Southern at Wollaston and Central at Weston. The Country Club was forced to forfeit four players from its team to fill its quota, while Central was in fact lacking but two players.

Unless Midland and Central share honors, there will be several more matches at Weston. Four of the lone nine undefeated players will be in action at Weston and, if Mrs. W. G. Low and Mrs. J. H. Haines meet, there will be at least one less member of the honor roll.

Miss Dorothy Richards, the holder of the women's title in Ohio and Mrs. D. A. Baldwin, both of whom were out of the lineup in the match with the Country Club, will be back in action tomorrow. In spite of the fact that Central has been the outstanding team for three years, Midland is expected to come quarters to take the measure of the title holders. Although there are no stars practicing the Midland team, it represents a strong lineup from No. 3 through No. 9 while there are at least two weak spots on the Central team.

At most of the Central District players are members of Weston and the others have a well grounded knowledge of that course, the champions will have a slight advantage over the visiting aggregation.

Columbia Crew Faces Navy on Saturday

New York, April 22—Bath day handicapped by the unfavorable weather conditions that have curtailed practice workouts during the last two weeks, Columbia's varsity crew will begin a final drive today in preparation for the opening race of the season, to be held this Saturday on the Harlem River, speedway.

Since a powerful Navy eight will provide the opposition for the untied Lion combination, Columbia rowing men are anything but sanguine regarding the outcome of the dual encounter down the famous old straightaway.

Michigan Moulding Strong Golf Team

Ann Arbor, April 22—Coach Ray Wright has hopes of moulding a formidable array of golfers to represent Michigan this summer. Though handicapped by the loss of three members, Courtright is very optimistic about the prospects available for competition, but this is not feeling Courtright.

Capt. John Bergelin and Art Ahlstrom are the only seniors available for competition, but this is not feeling Courtright.

N. Y. U. Tennis Team

Plays B. C. Wednesday

New York University will aid Boston College in the opening encounter of the new tennis season at the Heights next Wednesday afternoon.

Nine courts were constructed on Alumni Field a year ago and the N. Y. U. tennis team will be the first opposition to play on them.

Capt. Frank Hegarty hasn't picked the B. C. team yet. The Eagle racket winners who will practice in the new courts will face the Violet will be known by Tuesday afternoon when the final practice is held. Bill Flynn, senior, is sure of a place on the team because of past experience.

Liver and Bacon

"I'd rather have a good dish of liver and bacon than the best porthouse in the world," said a gentleman of affluence and discrimination the other day. And you wouldn't wonder if you could taste this dish as served in his home.

First the calf's liver is scalded in boiling water for about five minutes and it is carefully trimmed and rolled in seasoned flour. Meanwhile bacon of the first quality is fried in a heavy aluminum spider, the fat at no time being permitted to scorch. The bacon is drained on soft brown paper and set one side to keep warm while the liver is fried in the bacon fat. Be careful not to overcook the meat. When done it is cut in thin slices and served on a plating hot plate and prepared the same.

Sunlight Food for the Sunless Days

Have you tried the new irradiated cereals?—Quaker or Cornflakes? If you have, you know that these are no different in taste from the cereals of ordinary cereals with the exception that they contain the same amount of vitamins as the cereals of ordinary cereals.

This is especially important for the little folks, because the vitamins are found suffering from sun starvation. Through the discovery of the new irradiated cereals, the health giving quality of sunlight is now guaranteed to the children, and mothers are given an added weapon with which to combat the ill of children.

"Give the baby sunlight" is one of the doctor's first orders to the mother, for he realizes that the growing child needs a certain amount of vitamin D—like the sun in the child's diet often he can't get it. The new irradiated cereals, however, contain the vitamins in a form that is easily absorbed by the child's system.

Lecture by a Chef

We have a special treat to offering Wednesday afternoon when Charles Binda, chef of the Brattle St. Georgian Cafeteria will conduct the special culinary lesson.

The several hundred New England housewives, proprietors of tea rooms, chefs, school teachers, etc., who attended Mr. Binda's first lecture will realize the value of the opportunity to secure without charge a lesson from a chef of such high standing. We anticipate that the standing-room-only sign will be out early.

Every one in Boston and suburbs and many from much further points, are, I am sure, familiar with the popular chain of Georgian Cafeterias, which have up a new standard of restaurant excellence in Boston.

The house Georgian Cafeterias are as popular as any in the city and are up to the average of 10,000 meals daily are served quickly and efficiently and with the complete satisfaction of the large Georgian patronage. Purchases are made by expert buyers on such a tremendous scale that it is possible to secure the best of the choicest foods at surprisingly economical prices.

Opera and all kinds of sea food in season, salads, relishes, vegetables from our own New England farms, meats of all kinds prepared in a variety of ways, breads and rolls, the finest creamery butter, delicious desserts, rich, pure ice cream made on the premises—are just a few Georgian specialties.

Mr. Binda, who for the past several years has been chef of the Brattle St. Georgian, is a native of Conn. Italy, and has been connected with such famous hotels as the Brunswick, Parker House and Touraine in New York and New Brunswick.

We are very grateful to L. E. Whitney, assistant manager of the Hotel Kenmore, who arranged this special lesson of Mr. Binda for us. The Hotel Kenmore, as you probably know, also has a Georgian Cafeteria and we expect to have their chef with us in the near future.

Among the dishes Mr. Binda will demonstrate—and incidentally serve—you will find the Primeau de Veau Genevoise, Stuffed Artichokes American and Lamb's Tongue Georgian. This is your invitation to be with us at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Martha Lee Kitchen at 5 Wilbur St.

ACE (or King) in Dummy. As the other high Spade in Dummy affords a sure re-entry, there is no immediate necessity of South's discarding one of his losers on it. Should the Q of Hearts drop on the first round of Trumps, such a discard can be referred until the end of the play. South can count nine sure tricks, six Hearts, two Spades, and one Club and one possible trick, the capture of the Heart Q.

In this situation it is usually best to play one round of the suit before deciding whether or not to finesse, therefore South leads a round of Hearts from Dummy, winning with the Ace. The Queen falling to drop, South enters the Dummy again with the high Club, plays the remaining three Spades, discards his losing Club, then leads a second round of Hearts. The Queen dropping, all becomes safe for dummy; South makes his contract.

Roundup Week for Milk Bottles

How many homemakers. I wonder, stop to realize that it is not entirely the contents of their milk bottles that regulate the current price of milk, but the cost and loss of the expensive glass containers for nature's perfect drink?

From now until April 24th is Roundup Week for all milk dealers and I am going to ask you to cooperate to the fullest extent with them. Very often even the most conscientious housewife is guilty of keeping milk bottles to serve as molasses jars, watering cans, or play things in the children's sand box. Do look carefully around and see if you cannot find two or three bottles to add to the army of milk bottles that have been W. O. L.

Better Homes Week

New England Communities Will Further an Idea That Means Much

Boston and other New England cities this week will observe Better Homes Week with elaborate programs through the co-operation of civic and educational organizations and public spirited citizens who still believe that America has justly been called a home-loving nation.

The purpose of a Better Homes demonstration is thus to bring to the attention of the community all that modern methods and invention put at the service of home-makers of moderate means, to show the best that each community can do to promote and strengthen wholesome normal family life. The Better Homes demonstration in Boston as well as in other communities will illustrate that which is believed to be basically good.

Better Homes in America as an educational institution for public service was initiated in 1922 by Mrs. William Brown Meloney. It was organized on a national basis in December, 1923, with Herbert Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, as its president.

Its real purposes are:

- (1) To make accessible to all citizens, knowledge of high standards in home building, home furnishing and home life.
- (2) To promote thrift for home ownership, and to spread knowledge of methods of financing the purchase or building of a home.
- (3) To encourage general study of the housing problem and of problems of family life, and to help each community to benefit from its study.
- (4) To encourage the furnishing of homes economically and in good taste.

(5) To supply knowledge of the means of eliminating drudgery and waste of effort in housekeeping, and to spread information about public agencies, which will assist housekeepers in their problems.

(6) To encourage the establishment of courses in instruction in home economics in the public schools.

(7) To promote the improvement of home lots, yards and neighborhoods.

(8) To extend knowledge of the ways of making home life happier, through the development of home music, home play, home arts and crafts and the home library.

(9) To encourage special study and discussion of the problem of character building in the home.

All these features will be covered in an able manner by the sponsors of Better Homes Week in Boston.

The future history of America will be shaped in large measure by the character of homes. Many forces have operated during the past generation to change our home life. Pains have been expressed as to the trend of American civilization. If we are to continue to be a home-loving people we shall have the strength of character that comes only from a wholesome family life, and our development will be sound and in the right direction.

This means that our home must be convenient and comfortable, that however modest they may be they must be places of beauty. They must represent to individuals and families the center of their affections and loyalty. They must provide daily training in wise planning, co-operation and the service of others.

Daylight Saving

It Seems to Have Established Itself Permanently

There has been little in the weather of the last few days to remind us of the approach of the daylight-saving season, which opens officially on April 28 in the states adopting it.

Daylight-saving has unquestionably established itself permanently. Each year there is less discussion of and opposition to it, except in rural sections, where daylight-saving does cause some inconvenience.

City dwellers fall to appreciate how much the farmers are affected by the change. But its advantages to the city so far outweigh the disadvantage to some in the rural sections, that it is a question of doing what is best for the greatest number.

After ten years of experimentation daylight-saving is welcomed as promoting health and adding much to the joys of life. It has contributed materially to the reduction of our death rate and is helping to get the best of such diseases as tuberculosis. It has made it possible for the city dweller to enjoy an extra hour of sunlight and fresh air, the two greatest known health-giving factors.

Hence, while some are inconvenienced by it, there are many more who are inestimably benefited by it, that what is an evil to the few must apparently be endured for the good of the many.

Jersey Justice

Detectives throughout the country ought to learn a lesson from the so-called Torch Murder Case in New Jersey solved so effectively by Police Chief Hennessy and his men. From so faint a clue as the markings on a pair of burned shoes, they traced the identity of the victim, followed the slayer and obtained a confession within nine weeks.

The victim was a stranger in the State. Local sentiment was not stirred deeply and no indignant relatives or friends prodded the police on the search.

But Chief Hennessy and his assistants worked with high intelligence and persistent energy until they clinched the case, and their work was accompanied by no fanfare or trumpet nor outburst of oratory.

This method is not new, to be sure, yet it is unusual enough to be a novelty, and it would be well if it won general popularity.

The Guiding Hand

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

HOW long, oh, my Daughter, I will thou sigh for an Adam and set thine heart upon a Brass Brummet?

For, as playmates, these may be a joy forever; but NO wise woman wench a life-mate for whose heart she must cross weapons with every OTHER woman.

Go to, Beauty, in a bachelor, may be an asset; but in a husband it is a liability. And a well groomed husband requires more watching than a good silk umbrella.

Then let a bachelor be as meticulous concerning his cravats and his boots as a good husband is to the right to be comfortable.

Lo, by the baggages of his trunks and the lint upon his hat show thou know the Perfect Husband.

For he demands only that he hair grow until it dethen the back of his neck.

That, when his chin feels ten degrees below the surface of the sea, instead of a safety razor.

That he may eat whatever delects his palate regardless of his waistline or the fragrances of his kisses, and may wear whatever ever saeth and comforteth his spirit regardless of his beauty and his wife's vanity.

He delighteth in the soft collar that displayeth his Adam's apple and rejecteth only when it leaves a gap between itself and his neck.

In all his garments he longeth for the great open gape and a coat that is looser than two sizes too large is an affliction to his spirit.

Shoes that are flat and wide and broken-spined are an unction to his soul; and so that his shirts have sufficient buttons, he careth not though they be more fed than last year's debutante.

That Elliot grow lasted for weeks, until it becomes a neighborhood classic. They've patched it up, thank goodness, and they're fonder than ever of each other now.

But THEY'VE LEARNED NOT TO ACCUMULATE GROUND LITTER.

When something bothers them now they have it out—clear up the rubbish as they go along.

IT'S ALSO GOOD DOPE FOR MANAGING YOURSELF.

You accumulate ground litter in your own nature—dangerous clutter of prejudice, ignorance, misunderstanding, resentment and general peevishness which you should never allow to persist.

Some day, unless you clean it up, trouble will start in that rubbish and eat into the roots of your life before it breaks out in wholesale destruction.

So after that ground litter—clear it up! Don't leave inflammable rubbish in your mind.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THERE'S a bad fire burning over on the Peak.

The ranger says it had probably been burning for days before it broke out in the open.

Burning along secretly in the ground litter until a big area had been ravaged and the fire had gained such headway it was beyond control.

Dangerous stuff—ground litter. That's why mountain folk generally keep it cleared up.

Agnes thought the Elliot crew for eight years Steve and Agnes Elliot had been the model couple of the community. No one had ever heard them say an unkind thing to each other. They were almost too polite.

That last winter, when Steve was getting over the flu, the trouble started. One day they flared up into a big quarrel. The quarrel began over nothing but it went on and on.

According to Steve, Agnes had been getting his coat for years.

And according to Agnes, she had seen the world's most sordid and suffering martyr.

Each one dragged out little incidents that the other one had forgotten.

For instance, Agnes had been irritated for years at the way Steve held forth when he had been too polite to tell him so.

And Steve had been all smoked up because Agnes never rolled up the end of the tooth paste tube, but she just didn't want to hurt her feelings by calling her attention to it.

And then there was that time Steve had snapped at Agnes' friend, Mabel.

And the time Agnes had seen

snooty to Steve's friend Bill—

"N' the bum old stock Steve had bought without asking Agnes—"

By the set of books Agnes had subscribed to without consulting Steve.

A litter which they had never stopped to clear up and in which the slow fire of their resentment had been spreading secretly until it had gained such headway that it was almost beyond control.

That Elliot grow lasted for weeks, until it becomes a neighborhood classic. They've patched it up, thank goodness, and they're fonder than ever of each other now.

THE HEARST PAPERS

DEMAND FOR AMERICA

SCHOOLS—MORE SCHOOLS, BETTER SCHOOLS, more ADEQUATE and more MODERN school buildings; the best TEACHERS and the best COMPENSATION for teachers; a SCHOOL SEAT and a LIBERAL EDUCATION for every child in America, native or foreign born.

America is the great melting pot of the world, and the product of the melting pot must be competent, educated, loyal, moral AMERICAN CITIZENS.

1—That is the nation's duty to itself and its contribution to the social organization.

2—No politics in the schools, no race antagonism in the schools, no religious prejudice in the schools.

The schools are for all children; and all the children should there be taught and trained and graduated in that KNOWLEDGE WHICH IS POWER, and in an enlightened understanding of AMERICAN PRINCIPLES and IDEALS.

The government of a democracy reposes in the hands of the people, and the success of that government, the progress, the prosperity, the perpetuation of the nation, depend upon the EDUCATION of the people, the ABILITY OF THE PEOPLE TO GOVERN.

Schools are the foundation stones of the republic. Make them STRONG and SOUND and SUFFICIENT.

The BAER Facts

By ANTHONY "BUGS" BAER

SOME news of interest to amateur yachtsmen who intend to race the Coast Guard this spring.

There will be a large but exclusive regatta off the Grand Banks the last few days of April.

The moon will be in reverse visibility to be the lowest ever and the tides will be salty. This information was acquired by the Haverstown almanac in a lecture and being it to a pulp.

Captains should delay sailing this week, as there will be a low-iced area in the Gulf and destructive tornadoes from enraged reformers.

The winds will be fair and westerly, with short, intermittent dry spells between producer and consumer.

There will be no moon. But we are not responsible for inquisitive searchlights.

Boats of low tonnage than 50,000 bottles should proceed cautiously.

The old Scotch galloon, the Levanthian, which is the last of the house of name, is now churning up the high sea using a corker for a propeller.

The Levanthian seems to be the flagship of the bartenders' union.

The first trip under the new regime should proceed cautiously.
